1. The German residents of Tientsin are being checked by the Communist authorities. Those found not acceptable will lose both their real property and their personal effects. Germans who were cleared by the Nationalists in 1946 and 1947 seem to have less chance than those who did not come under scrutiny at that time.
2. The Communist authorities are trying to confiscate the shares of a German in an American company.
